H'KONG SAILORS SEE VIOLATION OF STRIKE TREATY

Union Protests Arrest Of Leader Contravenes Agreement

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, May 18.—The Seamen's Union has written a letter to the Chairman of the Shipowners' Committee, stating that the Union regarded Chan Ping-sang's arrest as a contravention of the agreement terminating the recent strike, and asking the shipowners to mediate with the Government in the matter.

On May 14 the Union of Commercial Associations of Kwangtung petitioned the Hongkong Government to release Chan Ping-sang, alleging that the Government had detained him for no crime, which was a breach of the conditions of settlement of the strike.

The Governor of Hongkong has written a letter to His Majesty's Consul General at Canton, stating that the fact that Chan Ping-sang was an officer of the Seamen's Union was not connected with his banishment, which had been decided solely on the ground that he was a confessed murderer. The Government found it necessary in the interests of peace and good order to refuse the hospitality of the colony to criminals of this type, and regrets that it is unable to accede to the request to the Associated Chambers of Commerce that Chan Ping-sang should be allowed to remain here.

Hongkong, May 18.—Owing to the failure of their demand for increased wages, steamlaunch coxswains and crews here have struck.

A Foreign Office official estimates the number of men who will engage in the industry this year at 15,000 persons and the amount of money derived from the industry at 30,000,000 yen.

The Navy Department has decided to send the light cruiser Niitaka and several special service boats to protect these fishermen.

PROGRAM THIS EVENING TO AID SCHOOL FOR BLIND

Prominent Local Artists To Appear At Olympic Theater

The entertainment for the benefit of the Institution for the Chinese Blind to be held at the Olympic Theater tonight at nine o'clock seems to have a very attractive program. Having this entertainment on Friday evening is entirely a new venture, and it is hoped that the foreign community, for whom it is especially planned, will respond and show its appreciation by filling all the reserved seats.

The committee feel much elated at having secured the promise of Mrs. Isherwood, Mrs. Snodgrass and Mr. Reginald Kay to appear on the program, and feel confident that all will give them the support necessary to make the affair a decided success.

A one-act play with dances, to be given by fifteen young ladies of McTyeire High School, promises well, and all who have seen their grace and poise speak very highly of their performances. The St. John's University Orchestra, the boys' Glee Club of the Shanghai American School and others give a pleasant variety to the program. The blind boys of the Institution are always worth seeing, especially in the pyramid building. The seven-storey human pagoda is certainly cleverly done, and it is to be hoped that it will figure in the program again this year.

Reserved seats may be booked at Moutrie's until 5 p.m., after which time they may be obtained at the theater. Holders of coupon tickets are reminded that they must be exchanged for reserved seats before the performance. The usual matinee performance will be given on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 when a special change of program is promised.

An informal reception will take place from 12:15 to 12:30 and the meeting will be over by 2 o'clock.

LYCEUM HELD FIRE TRAP BY S.M.C. ORDER; TO BE CLOSED

Council Acts In Report By Chief Pett

MAY BE ALTERED

Extensive Changes Necessary, Says Ruling

Following a report that was made last fall by Fire Chief M. W. Pett and an inquiry conducted recently by members of the Watch Committee of the Municipal Council, the Lyceum theater has been condemned as unsafe and has been closed to the public. In taking this action the Council sets forth an extensive list of alterations and improvements that must be made to insure safety of audiences from fire before the theater may again be opened.

From correspondence that has been carried on for the past six months on the question of the condition of the Lyceum by the Municipal Council, the trustees for the owners and the lessees it is apparent that it was with considerable reluctance that the Council has ordered the closing of the historic playhouse of the Shanghai Amateur Dramatic Club.

The changes required follow closely the lines of Chief Pett's original recommendations and as they virtually call for complete remodeling of the structure, the reconstruction work must run to considerable cost. In this connection the Council's attitude is indicated in the closing letter of the correspondence addressed to the Honorary Secretary of the Amateur Dramatic Club.

NO ALTERNATIVE

This letter says that if the members of the Council "could possibly see their way to meet you by making their conditions less onerous, they would be only too glad to do so, but having regard to the very grave responsibility which rests upon them to take such steps as they are advised—and as they are convinced—are absolutely necessary to render the premises reasonably safe, they have, as the licensing authority, no possible alternative."

The report of Fire Chief Pett together with his recommendations was presented to the governing body of the Amateur Dramatic Club last November. This precipitated a mass of correspondence in which objections and protests against the proposed changes of the theater structure took on at times an acrimonious tone.

Replying to the first letter the Honorary Secretary of the dramatic club, Mr. S. J. Deeks called the attention of the Council to the fact that the Shanghai Dramatic Club is not an owner but merely a lessee of the Lyceum theater property from the trustees of the owners, including the late Sir Everard Fraser, Sir Edward Pearce, and Messrs. E. F. Mackay, E. S. Wilkinson and E. E. Parsons. A list of opinions given in this letter reviews extensive construction work that has been done on the Lyceum building and recites precautions taken for the safety of audiences contending in particular that in the matter of fire safeguards the theater compares favorably with any in the city.

MR. ROWE'S ANSWER

Answering this Mr. E. S. B. Rowe for the Municipal Council points out that though the dramatic club only is a lessee, it is not requisite that the Council exercise any powers other than those involved by the licensing procedure, adding that as a condition of permitting public entertainments licensees must comply with requirements considered reasonable in the interest of public safety.

The alterations required by the Council are designed principally to provide effective means of separating stage and auditorium in case of fire and secondly to

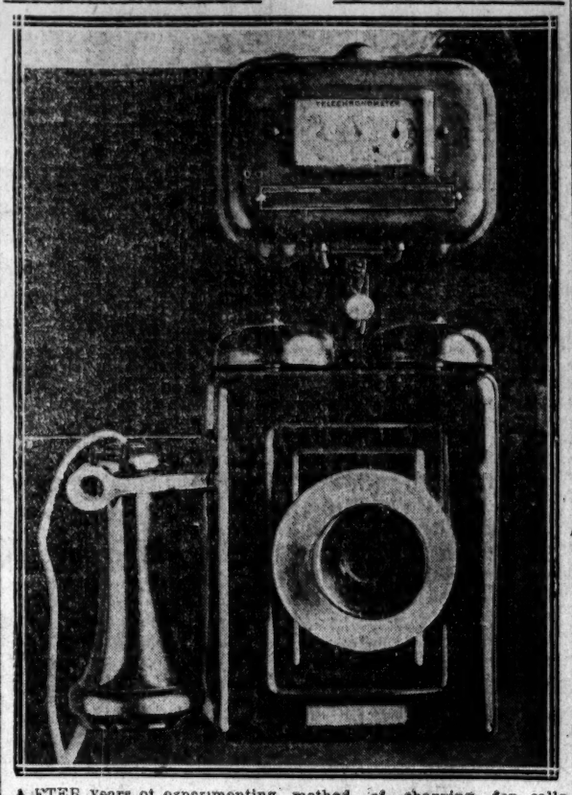
Telechronometer Measures Length Of Telephone Conversations



AFTER years of experimenting, Major Garrison Babcock, of Seattle, has invented the telechronometer, which measures the exact length of telephone conversations and presents a stable method of charging for calls. The little meter on the telephone registers only the calling party's talking time. The device is being installed on 6,000 telephones in Everett, Wash.

Goose Egg Face, Mutton Fat Complexion, Greatly Desired By Chinese Girls

By Elsie McCormick

If you wished to compliment a lady acquaintance, would you tell her that she had a face like a goose-egg? And can you imagine what a reception such a remark would get? Or how much of a chance you would have to dance with the lady again? In China, however, the flapper who received such a compliment would giggle delightedly and privately inscribe the day in her memory-book. A goose-egg face is considered a thing of great beauty among the native population, its only rival being the melon-seed face.

These comparisons, you understand, refer only to shape. A goose-egg face is not white and shining, nor is a watermelon-seed face a countenance of dusky hue. The proper contour for the face of a Chinese woman is a perfect oval or else just a slightly more pronounced tapering of the chin, like the point of a seed. Some beauty connoisseurs favor one type; some the other, but all agree that the cheek-bones should never be high. Well-marked cheek-bones are a sign of strength and will-power, two attributes not desirable to the suffragette-fearing Chinese. For the same reason, eye-brows must always be a thin hair-line, capable of being compared to a moth's antennal. The bushy type mean ferocity and China has no fondness for Mrs. Jiggs. Chinese beauties were patiently plucking their eye-brows before the savage tribes of Europe had even learned to comb their hair.

After telling the ideal of his dreams or his favorite sing-song girl that she has a goose-egg face, the Chinese swain adds insult to injury by remarking that she likewise owns a mutton-fat complexion. We were assured by someone who ought to know that "mutton-fat" is considered a poetic term by the Chinese, being applied to the exquisite creamy type of whitish jade, so prized by collectors. A complexion to match the jade vase on the mantel is considered one of the best gifts that the Eight Immortals can bestow.

STANDARDS OF BEAUTY

In China standards of beauty are so mingled with wizardry, superstition, and sooth-saying that it difficult of a mere Westerner to separate them out of the melee. No matter how appealing a Chinese girl is to the eye, she is not considered beautiful unless her face corresponds to the mandates of the fortune-teller. White teeth, for instance, have long been considered unfortunate omens. Many centuries ago Chinese women blackened their teeth to avoid bad joss, just as the Annamite women do today. Even in the enlightened present, a Chinese girl is taught to show her teeth as little as possible in smiling, for if she is inclined to expose them, the family never can become rich. The ladies with highly conspicuous dentistry who beam on foreign tooth-paste advertisements probably cause the Chinese to waste sighs of pity on their unhappy relatives.

The nose of the ideal Chinese beauty must be very straight and not tipped up so as to expose the nostril, for this would mean that the lady came from an undesirable family. Her mouth must be a mere cherry-like dot of red, no more long than it is wide. Her eyes must be almond-shaped and apparently set on the very surface of her face. The deep-eyed women of the West rate no beauty-prizes in China, and the Cantonese, who have deeper eyes than are usual in the Far East, are the subject of catty remarks from the more fortunate flappers of Shanghai and Peking.

One of the strange canons of beauty in China is that the hair must not contain any streaks of red, that being the invariable sign of devil-woman. Old books and plays, written long centuries before foreigners discovered the Bund or Hatamen Street, tell of the mischief wrought by women with red hair. Apparently the light hair that has occasionally appeared in China without intermarriage with a paler people must have been the outcroppings of an older and forgotten racial strain. The hair must always grow high off the forehead, married women assisting the illusion by the use of the razor.

EYELASH STYLES

Another point where the beauty specialists of East and West indulge in a race war is the subject of eyelashes. Long,

MUKDEN WARLORD WIRES WU THAT PRESIDENT HSU URGED HIM TO START WAR

Says Peking Executive Sent Brother And Secretary To Persuade Him To Send His Army Into Chihli Province

WILL FIGHT TO FINISH, HE SAYS

Announces He Will Disregard Foreign Lives And Property In Order To Bring About Complications For Enemies

BY JOSEF W. HALL

(Staff Correspondent The China Press)

Paotingfu, May 18.—General Wu Pei-fu received a telegram today from Luanchow signed "Chang Tso-lin," saying:

"I am a victim of President Hsu Shih-chang, who sent his brother, Hsu Shih-ching and his secretary, Wu Chi-sun, to Mukden to persuade me to bring my troops into Chihli. Now that I am defeated and driven as far as Luanchow the president sends emissaries to ask me not to withdraw to Manchuria, but to make a further fight, at the same time making it impossible for me to return by giving my positions to other men.

"I advise you Chihli warlords to prepare, since I am in a trap and will fight like a trapped tiger. Should I win I will have my revenge on the old schemer in Peking.

"If I lose I will bring down foreign complications upon him by disregarding foreign lives and property and by flouting international relations. I will fight to a finish and if whipped will fall back on my old profession of banditry."

General Wu has referred this telegram to his chief of staff, Chang Chin-hui, who was here yesterday. He will make no reply to the telegram himself.

Paotingfu, May 18.—Gen. Wu Pei-fu's staff is only awaiting orders to proceed toward Langchow and it is probable that General Wu himself will go to the new front if the probability of protracted fighting arises. It is thought here, however, that as soon as the Fengtien forces discover Christian troops that before defeated them marching against them ready to repeat the first victory they will retreat at once and will not stop his side of Mukden.

(Eastern News Agency)

Tientsin, May 17.—General Wu Pei-fu, escorted by three motor-cars armed with machine-guns, arrived at Chunliangcheng this morning.

Yesterday many wounded Chihli soldiers began to arrive at various hospitals here. They refuse to explain how they have got injured.

In consequence, the public here is of opinion that hostilities have already been opened again between the Fengtien and Chihli troops in the district of Tanshan.

The Kailan Mining Administration has reported that Chang Tso-lin has mobilised the remnants of four brigades and two divisions of a total strength of between 26,000 and 36,000 men, according to wires from Peking today.

The foreign residents at Luanchow have moved to Peitaiho according to the same reports. The Chinese press carries telegrams to the effect that the miners at Luanchow, most of whom are natives of Chihli, are about to throw in their lot with the Chihli soldiers.

Proclamations have been posted in Luanchow to the effect that the Peking Government has ceased to function and that the Fengtien forces will safeguard and protect the inhabitants and their property hereafter.

(Eastern News Agency)

Tientsin, May 17.—More than 22,500 Chihli soldiers have up to this morning advanced to the east of Tientsin. They are armed with 30 big-guns, 36 machine-guns and 5 aeroplanes.

The main forces of the Chihli troops, which have passed eastward, consist of portions of the 23rd, the 24th, the 11th Divisions, the 43rd and the 14th Mixed Brigades, of which some 15,000 strong are stationed in Chunliangcheng, where the general headquarters of the Chihli troops is established. Some 2,000 men with 6 big-guns are in Shinchia, and 1,500 with several big-guns in Taku, where the headquarters of the 23rd Chihli Division is established.

The 14th Mixed Brigade provided with 4 big-guns are stationed in Laotai, where trenches are being constructed. In Tianchuang, 300 infantry soldiers are stationed, and in Tangfang one battalion is stationed in addition to a field hospital.

In the district of Hsukuchuan, outposts of the Chihli troops are stationed. The headquarters at Chunliangcheng has been renamed as the general headquarters of the boundary defence and is expected to be removed to Tangfang before long.

(Eastern News Agency)

Tientsin, May 16.—According to those who personally inspected the front line of battle on May 14, the Chihli troops have established their headquarters at Chunliangcheng, and the 23rd

DE VALERA SAYS HE WILL ASSIST PROVISIONALS

Offer Conditional Accepted By President Griffiths

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 17.—The second attempt of the Dail Eireann peace committee has proved abortive in consequence of disagreement on the question of the proportion of candidates at the election which has been proposed and agreed upon. The Republicans insisted on their existing proportion in the Dail.

In the course of a long discussion in the Dail today, Mr. de Valera offered to co-operate with the Provisional Government. Mr. Arthur Griffith accepted, provided that the Republicans would no further obstruct Irishmen in expressing their will. The debate was adjourned.

London, May 17.—The hooligan element created consternation by firing at the mourners at a funeral in Belfast of an Orange postman who was shot on Saturday. Military pickets dispersed the attackers but firing was repeated from a side street further along the route. An armored car vigorously replied and a regular duel ensued. Several youngsters were trampled and injured. A lad was wounded in a sauve qui peut.

Chihli Division is now living under canvas, the staff officers staying on a train with locomotives attached to it at both ends. At Taku and Hsukschuang stations, there are only a small number of patrols, the main body of the Chihli forces stationing in several places at some distance from the railway line.

Meantime, the Fengtien troops already have constructed trenches on both sides of Kaiping station with Tangshan as a neutral zone: These trenches are being guarded by the 7th Mixed Brigade of Fengtien. In the district of Kuyeh, the 28th Fengtien Division also has constructed trenches, placing several field-guns in front of Kuyeh station.

Chang Tso-lin has his general headquarters inside a train at Luanchow station and is daily busying himself in both attending to business and reviewing Fengtien soldiers there. At Luanchow station, there were more than ten goods-waggons connected with several carriages, filled with war weapons. There were several hangars in the vicinity of the station.

In the district of Changli, about one division of the Fengtien troops is stationed with General Hsu Lan-chou as its Commander. The Fengtien troops above mentioned have their headquarters at Shanhaikwan, keeping sentries on the railroad between Kaiping and Shanhaikwan. The Fengtien troops are now constructing trenches on a large scale outside Shanhaikwan, but they are doing these defensive works only by night, as in the daytime they are afraid of bombardment from the Chinese men-of-war belonging to the Chihli troops.

Though Chang Tso-hsiang was for a time staying at Luanchow, he has proceeded to the district of Yungping at the head of about one division of troops in order to prevent the Chihli troops from attacking at the back of Luanchow.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 14.—The following is the text of the communication from General Chang Tso-lin to the Consular Body at Tientsin declaring the independence of Manchuria:—

Hsu Shih-chang has requested me to give up the Three Eastern Provinces, Jehol and Chahar districts and Outer and Inner Mongolia. These regions henceforth shall not be regarded as part of the territory of the Chinese republic.

The utmost efforts shall be made to promote intimate relations with friendly Powers and to protect the lives and property of foreign residents.

All treaties concuded with foreign Powers by the Manchu regime and the Chinese Republic shall be observed and respected.

Any foreign Minister, Consul or resident finding it necessary to discuss any question connected with the aforementioned regions may apply to my administrative office at Luanchow.

Whatever treaties or agreements Hsu Shih-chang may conclude with Foreign Powers on and after May 1, regarding the Three Eastern Provinces, Jehol and Outer and Inner Mongolia shall not be recognised unless such treaties or agreement are first approved by me.

At present the warships anchored in the vicinity of Shanhaikwan consist of three Japanese, two Chinese and three American vessels, according to reports appearing in yesterday's Chinese press.

At Lungkow there are two Chinese, two Japanese and one American vessels, and at Chefoo two Chinese and one Japanese warships are anchored. The Customs at Chefoo is reported to have contributed $20,000 to meet the expenses of the Chinese ships.

(Kuo Wen News Agency)

Canton, May 18.—Marshal Chang Tso-lin of Fengtien has telegraphed to his representative here instructing him to proceed to Shiuchow to call upon President Sun Yat-sen, and urge the latter to hurry the anti-Northern campaign. The representative in question has been instructed to express Marshal Chang's sincerity to President Sun.

A telegram received here from Yunnan states that the authorities there have decided to fulfil their agreement with Szechuen and take concerted action in connexion with the anti-Northern campaign. An order has been issued for the Yunnanese troops to participate in the campaign against the north.

General Li Lieh-chun began a general offensive yesterday morning, his strongest troops attacking Meiling. The center line have already engaged General Chen Kuang-kuei's Kiangsi troops.

U. S. MAY TREAT WITH CHANG ON "CANTON" BASIS

Minister Schurman Tells Dr. Hawkling Yen Probable Stand

(Special wire to the China Press)

Peking, May 18.—While the United States will not enter into treaty relationship with Chang Tso-lin, it will negotiate with him in much the same way as it had with the Southern Government in the interest of its nationals residing within the territorial limits of Manchuria.

This is the opinion voiced by Dr. Jacob G. Schurman, United States Minister to Peking in an interview with Dr. Hawkling Yen, counsellor of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and secretary to the Chinese delegation to the Washington Conference. The American Minister once more expressed his desire for the establishment of a strong government and for the early reunification of the country.

No official action has been taken by the Diplomatic Corps in Peking regarding the declaration of the independence of Manchuria. Individual legations however have instructed their consuls in Manchuria to furnish information regarding the activities of Japanese in this region.

The report that Japanese rowdies and Russian Bolsheviki are being employed by Chang has been confirmed. In the Fengtien Army now stationed at Luanchow, a large number of Japanese undesirables are found. They are placed in charge of the guns. On board the steamer Kiangping bound for Mukden, over a dozen Bolsheviki were discovered among the Fengtien captives being repatriated by the Chihli authorities on Tuesday. All the aliens wear Chinese uniform.

CHANG'S POSITION

Chang Tso-lin's stand is that while he has declared independence from the Central Government he still considers himself part and parcel of the Republic. In a lengthy proclamation posted in Luanchow, he maintained that the sovereign power of the Central Government was no longer in the hands of the Chinese people, so in order to preserve the territorial and administrative integrity of the Three Manchurian Provinces, he had severed his relationship with Peking. This move, he maintained, was aimed at the salvation of the nation and therefore there was no cause for alarm among the peace loving populace within his jurisdiction.

The colors adapted by the Fengtien Army are Blue and Yellow, signifying Mongolia and Manchuria. The flag consists of the two colors divided by a line drawn along the two opposite angles of the square.

A Presidential Mandate ordering a punitive expedition against Chang Tso-lin is expected to be promulgated today or tomorrow. The mandate will authorise General Wu Pei-fu to conduct the expedition. The Chihli Army has offered a reward of $100,000 for the arrest of Chang.

MINERS FOR WU

As a result of the oppression exercised over them by the Mukden troops, the laborers in the Kailan Mining Districts are joining the Chihli-ities after calling a strike.

The Chihli headquarters for the Manchurian Expedition is located at Tangfang. General Wang Chen-ping is still at Chunglianghchen. The Chihli forces is making Shukuochwang the first line of defense. A minor engagement took place on Monday near Kuyeh. Both sides suffered casualties.

In a telegram to Dr. Sun Yat-sen, Chang Tso-lin stated that the withdrawal of the Fengtien was caused by the treason of the 16th division under command of General Chou Feng. Chang promised to start an offensive when his reinforcements reach Luanchow. Meanwhile, he asks that Dr. Sun at once carry out his Anti-military Expedition.

The three special military areas, Jehol, Chahar and Suiyuan have expressed their unwillingness to support Chang's rebellion.

One hundred Sikh troops under the command of three British Officers left Tientsin for Tangshan on Monday to protect the British residents there.

Chang Tso-lin has ordered the local authorities in Yinkow, Harbin and Changchun to retain all the salt revenue for the provincial use and not to forward it to the Salt Gabelle. The amount for each year is estimated at $6,400,000.

Goose Egg Face Greatly Desired By Chinese Girls

curling lashes would be considered as ugly among the Chinese as bristling eye-brows are in the West. "Perhaps they can't help their eyelashes growing that way," Chinese ladies have been known to remark, "but why don't they cut them off so that they will look more neat?" If they were told of the tons of vaseline which foreign missies expend on their eyelashes trying to make them resemble a cocoanut grove, they would put it down as one more proof that all foreigners are cursed by foxes and therefore crazy.

Though the Chinese lady neglects her neck, she pays careful attention to the beauty of her hands. The phoenix flower is cultivated just for furnishing a strong red juice so that a little dot or crescent can be dyed near the base of the nail. The extremely long nails in fashion have gone out, but, even now, the average Chinese lady is better equipped for scratching a rival's eyes than are the foreign women at home.

Another commandment to the Chinese beauty is that her head should not be steady. "The head should swing as if set on the shoulders by a thin copper wire; the waist should sway like a willow in a storm," said a Chinese poet. It might seem to a foreigner that she who followed this injunction would execute some strange gymnastics, but to the Chinese these comparisons sum up the acme of grace.

Gradually time and contact with the West are changing the beauty standards of China. School-girls are learning to take athletic strides instead of mincing steps; they are holding their heads erect instead of remembering the copper wire attachment; and some of them are even bobbing their hair. The change, however, has not yet been sweeping enough to prevent the average Chinese woman from looking at the unfortunate light hair, the unhappy white teeth, and the ugly curling lashes of a Western flapper and pitying her from the bottom of her heart.

Beauty and the beasts of lust and indulgence. Then a difficult escape into clean living and clean loving.

An instance of the interest with which local business men are viewing the efforts of the Boy Scouts to secure funds, through their "Jamboree" of May 24, for adequate camp grounds, was the announcement yesterday by the District Commissioner of the Baden-Powell organisation that the Shanghai Rotary Club will be host to Scouts next Thursday.

Big Crowd Out For Double Band Program Held At Carlton Cafe

A crowd which literally packed the Carlton Cafe and was described as undoubtedly of "record" size for that popular place of recreation and amusement, turned out last night to enjoy the "ave-vale" performance given by the departing and the newly arrived Carlton orchestras.

Under the skilful leadership of Messrs. Frankie Barron and Joe Aronson the aggregations of passing and recently installed musicians rendered a memorable jazz program. Early after dinner there were nearly 600 dancers assembled in the ballrooms and shortly thereafter the management was compelled to hang out the S. R. O. sign.

The double orchestra will be in attendance Sunday afternoon for a special tea dansant and will play for the last time together next Thursday night, when a special program will be given.

Chiaotung Outlaws In Kobe; Going To Mukden, Says Yeh

A Kobe Japanese paper publishes an interview with Yeh Kung-cho, the Chiaotung outlaw, who went to Japan in the company of Liang Shih-yi and Chang Hu. According to Yeh, the Fengtien withdrawal was but a strategic move and was not a rout as the Chinese papers call it.

Yeh further resented being classified as a refugee by the Japaneee publications, because, he said, he and his confreres were merely passing through Kobe on their way to Mukden on account of traffic congesstion along the Peking-Mukden Railway. He admitted that an order for his arrest has been issued, but he stated that it did not amount to anything since the orders of Peking are no longer effective outside the walls of the capital. He said he would stay in Kobe for a week.

He is, however, registered in the hotel as Mr. Tseng Ming-hsun, while Liang and Chang were known as Kao Hsin and Sun Shu-cho respetcively.

Agents Charged With Forging Chop For $10,000 Deposit

The two Chinese sub-agents charged with obtaining $10,000 from the Bank of China by means of a forged chop of the Oriental Products Company appeared in the Mixed Court again yesterday when the case was remanded for a special hearing by Assessor Tenney and Magistrate Kwan.

Mr. Alexander Ting, appearing for the products company, stated that the men were engaged as distributing agents for Kiangsi province and were required to deposit $10,000 in the Bank of China to insure good faith. This he alleged they had contrived to withdraw without the company's knowledge or consent by forging a chop.

The forgery charge was denied by Mr. P. W. Goldring and Dr. O. Fischer, appearing for the two accused, Dr. Fischer contending that his client had the right to use the money.

Detective Sergeant Yorke testified that Dr. Fischer's client, when arrested, first declared that the deposit slip for the money had been stolen and later said that he had loaned it to the other accused, who was in debt.

In remanding the case the court allowed the defendants $5,000 bail each.

Shareholders Ask Banque Dissolution

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, May 18.—The Tribunal of Commerce is considering the application of two shareholders for the dissolution of the Banque Industrielle de Chine on the ground that the Bank lost three-quarters of its capital, namely, 112,000,000 francs, out of 150,000,000.

The shareholders' counsel contended that, in order to balance the liabilities, amounting to over 1,000,000,000 francs, it was necessary to include in the assets valueless elements and 400,000,000 francs of irrecoverable debts.

The Bank's counsel replied that the applicants had no interest in obtaining a dissolution. Moreover, he added, the losses did not amount to over three-quarters of the capital.

Judgement has been reserved.

Firm, secure, substantial—that is Williams' Holder Top Stick. The stick fits into a metal collar, the metal collar into an aluminum holder. It can't fall out. It can't loosen. It can't wobble. It can't break off. It holds.

Yet when the original stick is nearly gone you can easily unscrew the collar, and use the stub in a special way—the last atom of it. Then screw in a Re-Load stick. The Holder lasts indefinitely.

Bureau Of Revenues Would Apply Only Third To Education

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, May 15.—The Bureau of Revenues at Peking reports that a recommendation has been received from Japan, Great Britian, Italy, France and Portugal, to the effect that the Boxer Indemnity money, payments upon which will be resumed this year, might be used for educational purposes following the example set by the United States. The money has already been remitted in part for this purpose by the United States, and the debt wih Russia, Germany and Austria has been cancelled so that there has been a strong movement in the other countries still collecting this revenue to return the money to China in some beneficial way.

The remission of this debt is not by any means assured but the first payments which must be resumed, after the five year holiday granted as a result of the war having been ended, will bring matters to a head and there is great hope among the enlightened authorities that the money may be used for purposes helpful to China.

The Bureau of Revenues in speaking of the suggestion that the money should be used entirely for educational work seems to feel that there are other needs perhaps more urgent and suggests that only one third be devoted to education, another third to the development of industries, and the remaining third to the Government administrative expenses, particularly the judicial departments and the famine relief work.

It is generally believed that whatever is done, the money should be well safeguarded. The plans now put forth seem somewhat in the nature of counting chickens before they are hatched, but if the friendly attitude of the nations concerned is to be taken as any criterion there seems an excellent chance that the money actually will be given back to China.

In the aiding of industries, it is proposed to subsidise or develop a merchant marine which is particularly desired by those interested in the free development of China as a commercial nation.

COOPERATION IN BUSINESS URGED BY MARCOSSON

Famous Writer Also Pleads For Patience In The Fight For Great Richness

Patience in the fight for richness, and a closer co-operation between British and American interests in Shanghai was the keynote of an eloquent address given yesterday before the Rotary Club by Isaac Marcosson, Saturday Evening Post writer, just before his departure on the steamer Pine Tree State for Hongkong.

Mr. Marcosson lauded the British business man for "his patience and perseverance" and cited the British as "the business people who took leaves from the German business book and therefore learned something about business from the war."

Mr. Marcosson eloquently urged co-operation between British and Americans in trade and commerce.

"They are the only friends we Americans have at court and it is on the shoulders of the Anglo-Saxon peoples—the only ones who can unite in a lasting alliance, that the responsibility for salvaging of a shell-shocked world rests," he said.

The speaker saw in Shanghai "a unique opportunity to foster Anglo-Saxon amity and kinship." "The opportunity is here," he said. "You should make the most of it."

Mr. Marcosson's parting lesson to Shanghai business men was the reminder that "wars may come and go but business will go on forever." He then saw final peace in commercial stabilisation and amicable international trade relations, pointing out that British and Americans must take the lead in this economic and commercial leadership.

Senator Thomas Bakhap of Melbourne also spoke at the Rotary Club tiffin.

Price Of Rice Down Ten Cents

The price of best quality rice is down 10 cents per picul in the Shanghai market and is now retailing at $12.20 per picul. Inferior quality still remains at $10 per picul.

The Shanghai Rice Merchants Guild, however, has received an express letter from the Anhwei Rice Merchants Guild in which they announced that no more rice would be exported to Shanghai from that district.

If the order goes into force it is feared the price will again rise in the local market as large supplies were expected from Anhwei.

American School Team Defeats St. John's 11-4 In A Seven Inning Game

Hagar's Pitching And Team's Better Condition Give The Win

The Shanghai American School baseball nine defeated St. John's University yesterday afternoon on the latter's grounds in the first interschool game that has been played here this year. The score was 11-4, after seven innings of play, when the game was called.

The game was marked by light hitting on both sides, a number of errors charged to either team, and the pitching. Hagar had the edge on his Chinese opponent, with better style, control and effectiveness. He fanned seven of the St. John's men and passed none. Zung had a little speed, but he was hit freely though not for many bona-fide safeties. He passed two and fanned four.

Tsai for St. John's was the best boy with the stick getting two safe hits in three chances. Squires hit safely twice for the Americans. He and Zung, St. John's pitcher, each rapped out triples, the only extra base hits of the game.

The game was a purely friendly practice match, not as was expected the first match of the interschool tourney which is planned for St. John's, Nanyang, Shanghai college, Public School and the American School. Plans for the tournament have not yet been consummated. The American School in the meantime is looking for matches with other local colleges.

KIANGSI MISSION TRACK MEET HELD WITHOUT A RIOT

Nanchang, May 13.—The Kiangsi Mission School track meet held today was the most successful ever held in the province. It stands out in striking contrast with the provincial meet held last fall which on three successive days broke up in a riot. Honors were carried away by the William Nast College of Kiukiang, a M. E. institution, which gathered in 36 points. Nanchang Academy followed in second place with 21 and third place fell to the Y. M. C. A. Middle School. Individual honors went to Chen Chang-fu of the Y. M. C. A. who got first in the 220 and 440 and second in the 100 and shot put. C. T. Yin of Nanchang Academy and C. W. Wang of William Nast tied for second place and Y. S. Yu of William Nast came third.

The meat was held on the grounds of Nanchang Academy. The police band enlivened the occasion which was attended by the governor's family and many high officials. Tuchun Chen Kuang-yuan presented six gold wrist watches to the winners and two big silver loving cups, banners and medals were the gift of Civil Governor Yang.

Students of Nanchang Academy entertained the visitors in the evening with amateur theatricals and movies and the entire program, although entirely in Chinese hands went off without a hitch.

The meet was promoted by C. J. Tsui, physical director of the local Y. M. C. A. assisted by a committee consisting of Wang Hsi-shou, Tang Yin-kuo, Huang Kung-cheng and Teng Chi-chuan, physical directors employed in the various public schools in Nanchang and by Tseo Chi-nung, Chen Tso-min, and Chen Chang-fu of the Y. M. C. A.

Kerr Will Play With Chicago Semi-Pros

Wee Dickie Kerr, former star moundman of the Chicago White Sox, has passed out of organised baseball—at least temporarily. From his Paris (Texas) home he is enroute to Chicago to pitch for a semi-pro outfit. Kerr and the White Sox moguls couldn't agree over a salary for the diminutive star.

The Glee Club is composed of 26 California singers, and the baseball squad has eleven members, seven of whom are regulars on the crack University of California nine. Four tennis players from the University are also included and may play in Shanghai when the Glee Club is singing here.

The Californians are coming to Shanghai on the Golden State.

ALL CUPS CHANGE HANDS AT 'A' CO'S ANNUAL MEETING

The annual Bisley meeting of "A" Company, British, S.V.C. was held on 13th and 14th inst. Saturday afternoon was given to the Inter-Platoon and Inter-Section competitions, the former being won by No. 2 Platoon. The Inter-Section competition was abandoned, on account of a regrettable accident which resulted in the death of one of the range coolies, and will probably be refired later. Sunday was devoted to Bisley competitions for the company's permanent trophies and other prizes. Weather conditions were not too satisfactory being very hot with considerable mirage, and later on in the day a gusty fish tail wind sprang up which made the scoring very poor at 600 yards for the Ladies Prize.

All the company's trophies changed hands as a result of the shooting and the prize list is well distributed among the members, B. and C. classes being well represented. Pte. H. J. Blatchford brought off a notable success in winning the "Swiss" Cup with a "possible" score of 105, L.-Cpl. A. F. Gimson secured the "Old Captain's" Trophy with 90 out of 105, a very good score considering the tricky wind and lighting. The "Mih-Ho-Loong" Cup was won by Sgt. F. E. Hodges who registers his second win thereon.

Ex-Minor League Hurler Tries For Shanghai Nine; May Work Next Saturday

D. W. Cadigan, Formerly Star In N. Y. State League, Shows Promise

When the Shanghai baseball club meets the fast little nine from Tung Wen college on Saturday and Sunday, the big club will try out a new pitcher, one that should make the first string among boxmen for Captain Bills' aggregation.

The man is D. W. Cadigan, a right handed twirler who has worked in several good class minor leagues in the States and has made good. Cadigan's last appearance on the professional field was with the Elmira club in the New York State League five years ago when his team finished second to Wilkesbarre. He has also worked for Galveston in the Texas league, and in other lesser leagues. In Elmira he was used alternately in the box and in the outfield because of his heaving hitting. He batted .350 percent that last season in the N. Y. State League. He was making a good record for himself, both in the box and with the stick when the War broke out and he went with the Colors.

Cadigan is but a few days out of the General Hospital after a severe illness, and has not yet fully recovered his normal strength but he is working out carefully every afternoon and he believes he will be in condition by Saturday to hurl a few innings for Shanghai. It is likely that he will be given his turn with Wynn and Scott against the Japanese collegians.

The Tung Wen nine went through a two hour practice yesterday afternoon on the Baseball Club field, and they showed more baseball style than any Japanese team that has ever played here excepting only the Diamond nine from Osaka which represented Japan last year at the Olympics and Open Games. The few fans and Club players who saw them at work were more than optimistic for good games this week end.

Lane, Crawford & Co., Ltd., Pays 10 Percent

The twenty-sixth ordinary general meeting of Lane, Crawford and Company, Limited, was held yesterday at 5:15 p.m. Mr. James Ambrose presided, supported by Messrs. D. W. Crawford, E. H. Dunning, R. J. Bowerman (directors), J. E. Lucas (secretary) and other shareholders representing 1,624 shares. The notice convening the meeting and the auditors report having been read, the chairman said:

"Gentlemen: The report and accounts for the year ended Feb. 28, 1922, have been in your hands for some time, and with your permission I will take them as read.

"Your directors have much pleasure in again presenting to you what is, in their opinion, such a satisfactory result of the year's working, and I trust you are all of the same opinion.

"During the past year we have not been troubled with such great variations in exchange as was experienced in the preceeding year though the lower rates of exchange ruling in 1921 have resulted in an increase in the laid down costs over those of 1920, but this has in a few instances been partially offset by slight reductions in home prices of a few of the lines in which we are interested, though with the majority of our imports home prices show practically no reduction, and in some instances they are somewhat higher, and our advices from home are to the effect that little or no reduction may be looked for during the current year.

"Turning to the accounts you will see that the balance of working account is $122,116.16, against $119,350.25, last year, or an increase of $2,765.91.

"Land and Buildings in the Nanking Road still stand in our books at $330,000.00, and it is not proposed to reduce this item below that figure, your directors being of the opinion—and I think you all will agree—that this amount is considerably less than the value of the property.

"Our debenture issue of Taels 240,000.00 on the security of the aforesaid land and buildings is unchanged.

"Furniture and fixtures stand in the balance sheet at $18,141.31 as against $12,310.75 last year, but you will notice that during the year $10,830.56 have been expended on these. We look for a very considerable increase to this item during the current year, due to the proposed new front which we hope will be commenced during the next week or two.

"Our stocks, which have been very carefully checked, stand at $614,417.49 as against $562,987.09 last year, or an increase of $51,430.40.

"In all of our departments the stock has been valued on most conservative lines, and though the total amount is a large one, your directors consider that with our increased turnover during the year it is only commensurate with the business we are doing.

"In this connection I wish to draw your attention to the fact that during 1919 we wrote down our stocks to the extent of $100,000, which amount was taken from our Stock Reserve Account and during 1921 stocks were again written down by $20,000.00 from the same reserve, or $120,000.00 in all since 1919, and we have thus been able to reduce our selling prices in spite of the highly inflated home prices of the years 1918 to 1921, and so provided our customers with goods at reasonable and purchaseable prices.

"It will I think be clear to you all that our customers have received the entire benefit of this reduction and the result of the year's working seems to show that our policy has been appreciated by them, and to such an extent as to enable us to continue paying a steady and substantial dividend to our shareholders.

"Without being pessimistic your directors anticipate some amount of inconvenience to our customers while the work on the new front is being carried out, and I would ask them—our customers—to be as lenient with us as they possibly can and to look forward to the time when the work will be completed, when the undoubted benefits of the change will then be felt and in turn appreciated by them.

"Stock Reserve. We are proposing to allocate to this out of the profits of the year $30,000, when this item will then stand at $50,000, and to Building Reserve it is proposed to allocate $40,000, thereby bringing it up to $70,000, and your directors trust they have your approval to both of these proposed increases.

"Bank Overdraft stands at $244,310.86 or an increase during the year of $98,907.88 due to the increase in our stocks and to various payments made on Capital Account.

"Sundry Debtors stand at $167,925.02, or an increase of $12,524.92, which is accounted for by our largely increased turnover during the year.

"The accounts have been thoroughly and closely examined and all those of a doubtful character have been written off, those remaining being considered absolutely sound.

"General Reserve remains unchanged at $150,000.

"Investment Account now stands at $5,248.46, a slight increase over last year, and a list of the investments can be seen by any shareholder who wishes to do so.

"You will see from the report that the balance at credit of Profit and Loss Account, which includes $16,147.56 brought forward from last year, amounts to $110,069.85, which it is proposed to deal with as follows:

"To pay a dividend of 10 percent for the year, which absorbs $25,000, transfer to Building Reserve $40,000, transfer to Stock Reserve $30,000 and to carry forward to new account $15,069.85.

"This, gentlemen, is all I have to say in connection with the report and accounts now before you, but I will endeavor to answer any questions shareholders may have to ask respecting them."

The following resolutions were unanimously passed:

That the report and statement of accounts as presented for the twelvemonth ended February 28, 1922 be accepted and passed.—Proposed by the chairman, seconded by Mr. D. W. Crawford.

That a dividend at the rate of 10 percent on the capital of the company be declared, payable at the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation to shareholders on the record on May 18, 1922. Proposed by the chairman, seconds by Mr. E. H. Dunning.

That Mr. E. H. Dunning be re-elected a director of the company.—Proposed by Mr. H. H. Read, seconded by Mr. J. P. Lowe.

That Messrs G. H. and N. Thomson be elected auditors of the company to serve until the next ordinary general meeting at a remuneration of Tls. 500 per annum.—Proposed by Mr. B. H. Gowing, seconded by Mr. E. H. Roberts.

San Francisco Matron Has Coat With Real Gold Trimmings

IT'S a good thing that some of the customs of the war have been banished to the limbo of the past, as the poet would say. Otherwise snipping buttons from the mandarin coat of Mrs. Hazel Star, of San Francisco, would be an expensive proposition. They're of real solid gold—twenty-four karat at that. The coat was purchased by Mrs. Star in Peking, China and is heavily embroidered in silk and gold thread, butterflies and wistaria forming the motif for the design.

Swimmer Can Beat Dempsey Or Lewis

The question as to whether Jack Dempsey or Strangler Lewis could win a match with each using his own particular style of battling, received a new turn when Frank J. Sullivan, coach of the Princeton swimming and water polo teams, declared nonchalantly that Bob Tait, captain of the Tiger polo sextet, could defeat either of them in a bout in the water.

"Tait can clean up Jack Dempsey or anybody else in the water," said Sullivan. "As for Lewis, the only thing in which he could beat Tait would be floating. The water would prevent Dempsey's blows from being effective, and as water polo is a combination of wrestling and swimming, Lewis would not last long."

Motor Ship William Penn Makes Remarkable Record

The world-cruise of the United States Shipping Board motor ship William Penn, which visited Shanghai several months ago, constitutes a remarkable record in economical and efficient ship operation, according to word received here from New York. There was no expenditure for repairs throughout the ship's 28,500 mile voyage and the estimated fuel saving is $70,000.

The performance of the William Penn has been watched with unusual interest by shipping men as an outstanding test of the value of the Diesel, or internal combustion, engine, compared with the steam power now generally in use on ocean vessels throughout the world.

As a result of the voyage engineers predict a more rapid growth of motor ship tonnage. It is pointed out that, as a result of greater economies, practically all of the motor ships in various countries, regardless of age, are in active use, while a large proportion of the steamships are now idle.

The Diesel motor still is in process of development and is in use chiefly on freight vessels up to twelve knots speed and 12,000 tons. Experiments on faster and larger ships are in contemplation.

FIRST LARGE MOTOR SHIP

The William Penn has the distinction of being the first large American motor ship suitable for deep-sea cargo trade. She is operated by the Barber Steamship Lines for the Shipping Board and recently returned to New York. Mr. Metten describes her voyage as follows:

"The Penn is 455 feet over all, with a draft of 28 feet loaded, of 12,375 tons deadweight carrying capacity. She is propelled by two Cramp-Burmeister and Wain type six-cylinder Diesel engines, having cylinders of 29¼-inch diameter and 45¾-inch stroke, each engine directly connected to a propeller through shafting, the vessel being twin-screw. The engines are designed to develop together 4,500 indicated horsepower when turning at 115 revolutions per minute. There are, in addition, three auxiliary Diesel engines, each directly connected to 65-k. w. generators.

"There are several sister hulls equipped with either steam turbines or reciprocating engines, which have been laid up for the last year due to their inability to run at a profit, while the motorship William Penn has been able to show a fair return to the owners and operator during the recent slump in shipping. The hull of the Penn was built by the Pusey & Jones Company, of Gloucester, N. J., and towed to the yard of the William Cramp & Sons Company for the installation of the Diesel machinery, the latter company being United States licensees for Burmeister & Wain, of Denmark, under whose system the machinery was constructed.

"The William Penn left New York on September 3, 1921, stopping at Savannah to complete loading. She then sailed to the Far East via Panama Canal and Honolulu. The first stop to discharge cargo was at Yokohama. The vessel then proceeded in succession to Kobe, Shanghai, Foochow, Swatow, Hongkong and Manila. At the latter named place unloading was completed and loading again commenced for the return voyage. Stops were made at Cebu, Philippine Islands, Surabaya, Singapore, Straits Settlement, Suez, Port Said, Marseilles, London, Rotterdam and Liverpool. From the latter place the vessel sailed on March 6 for New York in ballast, arriving on the afternoon of the 19th, after having experienced some very severe gales in the North Atlantic, the wind at one time attaining a velocity of 110 miles per hour.

READY FOR ANOTHER TRIP

"After this long trip of nearly 30,000 miles the vessel returned to its home port with propelling machinery in perfect condition; with no expenditures required for repairs, and ready to put to sea again after refueling.

"The longest non-stop run was from Singapore to Suez, or 4,943 nautical miles, taking nearly eighteen days, with a mean speed of 11.48 knots.

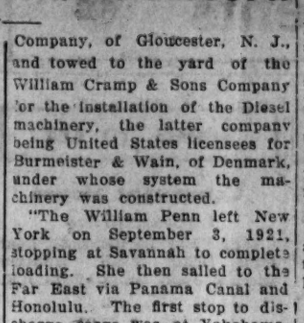
"The oil consumption of main and auxiliary engines was 13.41 per day. This total consumption is less than one-third that required for the sister hulls having geared steam turbines, the motorship in addition making from one knot to one and half knots better speed. In port, when loading or unloading, the auxiliary engines consume for the twenty-four hours about 150 gallons per day, or 48 tons, which is less than one-tenth that for an equivalent steamer.

"The best speed was made the day before arrival in New York, which was 12.8 knots, with engines developing 4,700 indicated horsepower, thus proving that Diesel engines do not fall off in power at the finish of a long run, as is usual with the steam plant.

"The total time required for the voyage, counting twenty-four hours to the day, was 197 days. The total number of days in the various ports was eighty-six. The time at sea was 108 days.

SAVED ON FUEL

"By being able to carry all the fuel for the round voyage from American ports (paying actually about $2 a barrel), a considerable saving was effected, due to the price of oil at the time being about double this in foreign ports. The total oil consumed by the Penn was 1,475 tons. On sister hulls, with steam drive, there would have been required 4,800 tons of fuel for the same trip, and it would have been necessary to have purchased about 3,000 tons of oil ahead. It is estimated that the motorship saved in cost for fuel alone about $70,000 for the voyage."



AGE is no indication of eye condition. Many aged people do not need to wear glasses, whereas many children need them at an early age.

Sometimes children, otherwise bright and intelligent, are backward in school on account of defective eyesight which is entirely unsuspected.

NEW RULES FOR TRAM PASSENGERS ARE ANNOUNCED

Those Riding On Steps To Be Prosecuted According To New Edict

Measures that the Municipal Council plans to take in dealing with overcrowding of tram cars may interest those who have suffered jabs in the ribs from elbows of motormen and particularly these measures touch those unfortunates who find themselves obliged to cling by their eyebrows to the outside of jolting trams to get home for tiffin. Here are the new recommendations as set forth in today's issue of the Municipal Gazette:

(1) That the driver's platform on all cars be so arranged as to separate the drivers entirely from passengers and that the Tramway Company be called upon to take the necessary steps to this end.

(2) That should experience show that the safety doors or similar devices, which are to be provided in the case of new rolling stock, are really effective, the Tramway Company should be called upon to fit same on all rolling stock.

(3) That a notification be issued (a) directing attention to Traffic Regulation No. 32 that "No person shall stand or sit on or otherwise occupy the footboard of a vehicle in motion on a highway," and (b) giving warning of the Council's intention to prosecute all those disregarding this Regulation.

Attorney General Of Pennsylvania To Succeed Penrose

(China Press Service)

Philadelphia, May 17.—The return reports of 7,934 districts gave Attorney General George Alter 135,193 votes and Gifford Pinchot 77,741 for the Republican senatorship nomination for Penrose's unexpired term.

David Sneed of Pittsburgh won the nomination for the Knox unexpired term.

W. H. Baker, secretary of the State republican committee made the statement that Pinchot "apparently won the Republican nomination for governor on the face of unofficial returns" unless Allegehany County gives Alter a greater majority than unofficial figures indicate.

(French Wireless through Reuter)
Paris, May 17.—The London-Paris cross rate is quoted today at £1=48.86½.

Exchange Fluctuations
Asia Banking Corporation

May 18, 1922
Spot bar silver was up ⅛d. and forward ¼d. in London yesterday.

The New York price advanced to 72¾ cents, and the London-New York cross rate declined to 445.

The official Sterling rate today was raised to 3-6½, the Gold Dollar rate to 78¾, and the other rates in proportion.

These rates, however, at present are entirely nominal as business is done at a very much higher level.

The market opened firm this morning, and while it varied considerably, was steady to firm throughout the day. At the opening, business in Sterling was done at 3-8¼ for May-June deliveries, and in Gold Dollars at 82 for the same months. Later in the morning as high as 3-8½ for Sterling and 82¾ for Gold Dollars was done. However, there were buyers at these rates, and in the afternoon the market eased off and closed with sellers of Sterling at 3-8⅜ for any delivery to July, and of Gold Dollars at 82¼ for the same delivery.

Speculators both bought and sold, and the market was erratic throughout the day.

China banks bought silver again in London yesterday and the Continent was a small seller.

The market there, as well as in New York, is quoted as firm.

Exchange Market

Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows in their exchange circular for week ending Wednesday:

Exchange:—Since the date of our last circular there has been a steady rise in the London price of bar silver, which is quoted today at 36⅝ pence per oz., or an advance of one penny. Latest advices from London report the market there as being quiet with China a small buyer.

Local speculators still continue to support the market with sales of gold currencies, and rates have ruled very strong throughout the week. A certain amount of export paper has also been in evidence. Our market closes strong with sellers of sterling T.T. at 3s. 7⅝d., and 80⅞ on New York.

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver Tls. 26,504.000, a decrease of Tls. 66,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars $37,400.000, a decrease of $1,120,000.

Estimated value Tls. 53,432,000 as against Tls. 65,710,000 held this time last year.

Freight Market

Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows in their fortnightly report on the freight market.

We have nothing further to add to our remarks of a fortnight ago on the state of the export trade from China to Europe or America; if anything, the recent hardening in exchange has made the export business still more difficult.

Coastwise: The political disturbances in the North and South of China have seriously affected the coasting trade and the market is consequently very flat whilst rates have declined in all directions since last writing.

Coal Market

Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows in their coal market report:

Japan Coal:—This market has again been fairly active during the last fortnight and quite a fair amount of business has been done with native dealers, this has been brought about principally by the favorable rate of exchange that has been ruling lately and partly on account of supplies from Chinwangtao being seriously interfered with by the hostilities which are going on in that district.

Fushun Coal:—This coal has also sprung more into demand for the same reasons as stated above.

Fuchung Anthracite:—Since last writing stocks at Hankow have been replenished from the mines to a considerable extent but stocks at Shanghai are almost at an end for the moment.

Kaiping Coal:—The political situation in the North remains unchanged. The commandeering of rolling stock by the military authorities has considerably curtailed shipments from Chinwangtao, consequently stocks are almost exhausted and from latest advices it is impossible to state when the situation will improve.

Church Exhibition Opens In London

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 16.—The "Africa and the East" Exhibition, organised by the Church Missionary Society, will be opened tomorrow, at the Royal Agricultural Hall by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

The Reverend Doctor Garfield Williams, who has just returned from a missionary investigation tour of India in the course of a speech at a press luncheon in connection with the Exhibition, said that Britain by opening communication between the East and West was creating a Western industrial revolution in Japan, China, India and Africa on which we had forced some of the greatest problems the world had ever faced which we ourselves had not solved and which would not be solved except on the basis of the ethics of Christ. Democratic institutions, he declared, could not be built up in India except on Christian ethics.

Wu Pei-fu's Plan

BY JOSEF W. HALL

A STRUGGLE which is to decide whether China is to remain for at least a while longer in its disjointed state and under the governence of the old gang or whether a bona fide attempt is to be made immediately to reunite the country under oinicals of a new type is now under way. It centers about the President. All factions hold that his removal must be precedent to any radical change. Wu Pei-fu has hinted to him that his resignation would clear the way for reunification. Yet the old man—unsupported by any faction—clings to his high office. Naturally Wu, and those with him, hesitate to compel his abdication. Therefore we have at the present moment the President and his co-officials, comprising the Peking mandarinate, proposing, in place of the ideal reunification cabinet suggested by Wu, a compromise in the shape of a temporary cabinet, to fill out the President's term.

It is doubtful whether today's opportunity will again arise. Should the plan to save old President Hsu's face by allowing all things to remain as they are carry, it is unlikely that any radical change could be accomplished at the end of that time. Indeed, the success of a reunification policy is uncertain under even the present plastic conditions. But should the Chinese political world again harden to the old mould, there would be little hope of change.

General Wu Pei-fu has come to the crisis. He is realising that his attitude of non-assertion will not lead to any expression of the will of the people as he had noped. The Chinese people, in their present state of evolution, are incapable of expression. They are capable enough of negative expression as they have demonstrated during the past ten years. Wu Pei-fu must choose a line of action which he believes suits the needs and innate longings of his people and take the risk of a favorable popular reaction. Either this, or he must allow his great opportunities to lapse and his victory to become merely the unsignificant decision of a factional or even personal rivalry.

Those near to the little General believe that he will assert himself. He has pledged that a definite program will be drafted. This as already indicated will declare for a restoration of the parliament prorogued by Li Tuan-nung in 1917 and if possible the resumption of the presidency by Li, whose term was cut short at the Chang Hsun monarchical restoration. Such a declaration should leave no excuse for Canton, which has based its objection to the Peking Government upon the illegal presidency of Hsu and the improper dismissal of parliament. At least, it will take the wind out of Canton's sails. No word has as yet come, however, from Chen Chiung-ming, which is one of the reasons for Wu Pei-fu's caution.

Eight provinces have responded through their Tuchuns or authoritative sources to the suggestion emanating from Paoting. They are: Honan, Shensi, Hupeh, Chihli, Kansu, Shantung, Kiangsi and Kiangsu. In addition Szechuen and Hunan, which are considered strategic provinces, have indicated their willingness to come in, and authorities here are confident that Kweichow and Yunnan will fall into line. Anhui and Shansi present no difficulties. The sand in the love feast is Chekiang, but Wu Pei-fu realises that he can no longer wait on Lu Jung-hsiang. He must be either ignored or smashed. If Chen Chiung-ming comes in Lu will probably be smashed; if Canton maintains a separate existence he will probably continue in his role as an independent buffer faction.

Two Recipes For Success

Giving advice to the young has always been the favorite pastime of the aged. Who does not remember the counsel of Polonius to Laertes?

Give thy thoughts no tongue,
Nor any unproportioned thought his act.
Be thou familiar, but by no means vulgar.
Those friends thou hast, and their adoption tried.
Grapple them to thy soul with hooks of steel;
But do not dull thy palm with entertainment
Of each new-hatched, unfledged comrade. Beware
Of entrance to a quarrel, but being in,
Bear't that the opposed may beware of thee.
Give every man thy ear but few thy voice;
Take each man's censure but reserve thy Judgment.
Costly thy habit as thy purse can buy,
But not expressed in fancy; rich, not gaudy;
For the apparel oft proclaims the man.
Neither a borrower nor a lender be;
For loan oft loses both itself and friend,
And borrowing dulls the edge of husbandry.
This above all: to thine own-self be true,
And it will follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man.

It makes no difference today that Shakespeare borrowed these ideas bodily from John Lyly's Euphues; his genius has transmuted them into a quality unique.

Elizabeth Hudson Jackson, mother of our great fighting Democrat, probably never read a line of Shakespeare. But in her last interview with Andrew Jackson, in 1781, when he was thirteen and she was about to go to Charleston to minister to the sufferings of the American prisoners confined on board the British hulks in Charleston harbor, a work of mercy in which she lost her life, she admonished him:

In this world you will have to make your own way. To do that you must have friends. You can make friends by being honest, and you can keep them by being steadfast.

You must keep in mind that friends worth having will in the long run expect as much from you as they give to you.

To forget an obligation or be ungrateful for a kindness is a base crime. Men guilty of it sooner or later must pay the penalty.

In personal conduct be always polite, but never obsequious. No one will respect you more than you esteem yourself.

Avoid quarrels as long as you can without yielding to imposition. But sustain your manhood always.

Never brook wanton outrage upon your own feelings. If ever you have to vindicate your feelings or defend your honor, do it calmly. If angry at first, wait until your wrath cools ere you proceed.

The essentials of good conduct are constant. Only human circumstances change. Shakespeare and Elizabeth Jackson simply used differing forms of expression.

Flapper Is Highest Type of Her Sex

Expert Says Modern Girl Shows More Initiative In Day Than Grandma Did In Month

BY C. BUDINGTON KELLAND
The Noted Author

Society as it manifests itself in our large centers of population has not, as certain alarmists insist, deadened the initiative of our modern young woman. Quite the contrary; she bulges with suppressed initiative and releases an amazing amount of it under the pressure.

Primitive conditions beget initiative. In a primitive society each member is thrown almost completely upon his own resources. There is no sturdy social fabric to sustain the members of the community, and it is each man for himself. Initiative is as necessary as a war club. Each individual must be cabable and efficient in his own behalf. He must not only initiate for himself, but must carry through. It is a splendid school, and the major subject taught is self-reliance.

SOCIETY STILL PRIMITIVE

Now, if society today is not primitive it is non-existent. It is as primitive as life in the great Kraal of Chaka, the Zulu conqueror. One young woman turned loose in modern surroundings exhibits in a day more initiative than her grandmother did in a month. She has cut loose from all moorings, and the magnetic pole has vanished out of her world. Her grandmother's life was calm and settled. She knew her point of departure and sailed for a definite destination. It was all arranged for her. The young woman now at liberty in her kraal of social Zulus has no starting place and steers for no destination—but she forages on the country she passes through. Each day is an entity, set apart and distinct. She burns it up because she knows there will be another day and more tinder tomorrow.

The young woman who infests our aboriginal society is capable of being turned out with a trunk of clothes, short skirts and hair worn after the fashion of an African spearman and of sustaining herself indefinitely. She trades upon and makes capital of the fact that she has become legitimate prey—and is seldom preyed upon without her complete concurrence. Her brain is full of the sort of music which excites the savage to violence; her body is little and ready for the equally and purposely barbaric dance. She is an able Amazon whose weapon is her sex and whose purpose in life is the same as that which animated the hordes of 1849 to cross the continent to California.

SHE'S ON HER WAY

Home is a place to issue forth from; parents are individuals to be kept in subjection and to be made efficient use of. She accounts to nobody for her actions. Her inhibitions are the inhibitions of her own expediency. She is the most individualistically capable creature the world has ever seen and her eye is seldom turned from the main chance. This same expediency takes the place of morals and is quite as efficient. She is as virtuous as her grandmother, but for business reasons rather than an ideal conception of womanhood.

She is, like art and literature, in a confused, incomprehensible transition stage. She is a Cezane, a Sherwood Anderson. She is to the human race what the Dial is to painting, sculpture and writing, but she has no megaphones like Nathan and Mencken to bellow her excellences. . . . But she has initiative and through its exercise she will arrive somewhere. She need not be despaired of. She does not know where she is going, but she is efficiently on her way.

Going To Destruction

BY S. E. KISER

Flappers will bring on the next war. They will ruin and wreck the nation within fifty years, unless they are curbed.—Dr. J. Frank Norris, Revivalist.

Oh, boys, there is trouble ahead!
The flappers are out to decoy us;
If we yield to their calls, and are led
They will ruin and wreck and destroy us.
We are slipping! You know it, old things;
They charm us more pleasantly daily;
We have given discretion wide wings,
And dance to catastrophe gayly.

Their lashes are twisted and waxed;
Their work with the lipstick is cunning;
In a hundred sly ways we are taxed
For the things that they ought to be shunning.
They are setting a pace that will kill;
We follow where danger is present,
Persuaded with small effort still
That the wrecking's decidedly pleasant.

Boys, will you be boys, and be lured
By flappers whose smiles are seductive?
We are warned in good time, and assured
That exhibited charms are destructive
The nation, they tell us, will fall,
And they leave us no reason to doubt it.
But on with the wreck! After all,
There is much that is pleasing about it.

Let the girls bob their hair, if they will;
Let them smoke if they like it, God bless them!
They may wreck us, but still there's a thrill
In the old-fashioned chase to possess them.
We are nearing a brink that is high,
And the fall that impends will be frightful,
But who is prepared to deny
That the wrecking is very delightful?

U.S. JUDGE'S ABSENCE COSTLY

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS.

Dear Sir.—In August last year, the Judge of the U. S. Court for China left for his native land on a "holiday" on the understanding that he would be back in three months. The latest news to hand is that he is still in Washington waiting for the Chief Executive's decision before returning to Shanghai. Meanwhile, the cases in the local American Court are piling up sky-high with no immediate prospects for the parties involved.

The present writer is interested in the situation. In the first week of August last, he filed a petition in the U. S. Court for a claim exceeding $2,000, against a local firm of some standing and had the case been heard immediately the chances are that he would have secured judgment and had the claim made good. The delay, however, has gone against him. The firm in question has suffered losses and gone out of business and is now practically bankrupt. Consequently, I had no other alternative but to withdraw my case from the Court and say good-bye to my claim. I am told that this is not an isolated case. Several other cases are being affected similarly. And yet Washington is immovable! It is a puzzle to us how a great and civilised Power like America can afford to be tardy in her administration of justice. What effect this will have or is having on the Chinese is not hard to conjecture! Americans! Wake up! I am, etc.,

INTERESTED.

Hazards Of The Sky

Recent Long List Of Casualties Show Prophecy Of Safe Air Travel Yet Unfulfilled

The alarming crop of aviation crashes this spring suggests the thought that for some time to come most of us will be content to do our traveling on terra firma—"less terror and more firmer," as the old lady of a classic anecdote expressed it. Sir Oliver Lodge may be right in saying that solid matter is nothing more than a hole in the ether, but, hole or no hole, solid matter has quite a comfy feel under one's feet.

Ever since flying became an established fact we've been telling one another nonchantly that before many years we'd all be skimming through the air and scorning to crawl from place to place on solid ground. We've been saying that an airplane was already much safer than an automobile because there's so much more room in the air, you know, than there is along a narrow road.

So much room, we've declared that such thing as a collision between two airplanes was virtually impossible—oh, quite unthinkable! And yet one of the latest air horrors was a collision between the London-Paris mail plane and a Paris-London passenger plane, with all hands lost.

RECORD FAILS TO CONVINCE

Do we have to revise our views as to the security of transportation via the empyrean, or will the air yet be made safe for democracy? The aviation experts don't seem to know. Engines have been developed marvelously—but the best of engines will sometimes go wrong. Aviators accomplish incredible stunts—and then blunder into disaster while on some "safe and sane" flight.

There was the case only a few weeks ago of Capt. Sir Ross Smith, knighted for flying 11,500 miles to Australia, and then killed while testing a plane with which he and his brother, Sir Keith Smith, who had shared his Australian flight and its royal recompense, were planning to fly around our planet.

As usual, there was no survivor to tell how the accident happened. That's one serious obstacle to the business of making the air safe—when something goes wrong nobody is left alive to explain what it was. The experts have to fall back on guessing, which doesn't help much.

And even when the pilot survives he doesn't always know what the genesis of the accident was. "Something broke off the propeller," was the vague explanation of Robert Moore, pilot and sole survivor of the seaplane Miss Miami, which was wrecked while flying from Miami to Bimini, Fla., a few weeks ago. Moore was picked up in the Gulf Stream after days of exposure to tropical storms and sunshine, and after seeing his five passengers and fellow castaways, two women and three men, die one by one.

Capt. Roald Amundsen, after surviving many Arctic perils, had a narrow escape in Pennsylvania the other day while traveling by monoplane with four companions from New York to Cleveland on the first stage of a transcontinental flight. In making a forced landing for lack of fuel the plane hit the earth violently and turned turtle, spilling out its passengers but not injuring them seriously.

BIG ARMY FLYING TOLL

Two Portuguese military aviators on their way from Lisbon to Parnambuco, Brazil, came to grief at St. Paul's Rocks, in mid-Atlantic. The nature of their accident was not made known, but a wireless message said "Plane useless. Aviators hope to save motor."

March and April this year have been especially rich in flying mishaps. Two army aviation sergeants were seriously hurt at Mineola when their motor "cut on a stall," causing the plane to drop from a height of 100 feet. A couple of days later one of seven military planes that went down the bay in honor of Major-Gen. Mitchell of the air service, who was arriving on the Aquitania, took a nose dive into the sea astern of the liner. Her men were rescued by a pilot boat.

Two stunt flyers in Georgia were killed by colliding with a smokestack and thus setting fire to their plane. Two army aviators at Houston, Tex., were killed when, during a mimic battle, two pursuit planes crashed together and fell. And again at the Marine Corps flying field at Quantico, Va., only last Monday two planes in another mock duel, known in aviation slang as a "dog fight," smashed each other's wings and fell 4,000 feet to destruction, killing two lieutenants and a private.

And so it goes. No wonder the man in the street doesn't feel that the air is quite equal to terra firma yet!

Garrett P. Serviss On Fossil Footprints

Tracks Found In Connecticut Valley And Other Places In United States Show Huge Animals Roamed Country Centuries Ago

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS
(Noted Astronomer And Writer On Subjects of Scientific Interest)

What is more thrilling than a footprint? The most agitating moment in the story of "Robinson Crusoe" is that when he sees the mysterious footprints in the sand. Perhaps the most exciting experience of the geologist is the rare one of coming upon great petrified footprints of prehistoric animals in rocks that were once mud floors for lagoons and marshes, or moist beaches on the shores of shallow seas. The study of such fossil footprints is a branch of the science of paleontology, and is called "ichnology," a word based on the Greek ichnos, meaning a track.

This earth has had inhabitants of whom we know nothing except the little that can be inferred from the tracks that they left behind them "on the sands of time." But that little is sometimes intimidating on account of the strange and formidable look of those adamantine footprints.

The nameless awe that they inspire is heightened by the reflection that their makers were vertebrates, that is back-boned animals like ourselves, and not mere shapeless monsters of the dawn. They had an intelligence that we can interpret in their unseen acts whose consequences have been engraved in the rocks like a writing on the wall made by an invisible hand.

IN CONNECTICUT VALLEY

Professor Marsh once read a connected story from the footprints of huge, bipedal creatures in the sandstones of the Connecticut valley. It told how the animals, long aeons ago, had waded among the rushes, or tramped over the soft beach, seeking their food; how one of them had sat down and so left an imprint that betrayed its dinosaurian form; how a little dinosaur had followed its gigantic progenitor, marking the yielding sand with what must have seemed to its mother tiny feet; how a beating storm of immense raindrops, or it might be hailstones, had burst over the place, pitting the beach with cup-shaped holes, and how the animals had suddenly run away, their haste being betrayed by their lengthened strides and the deeper impressions made by their toes in the wet sand.

As there were no marks to show the presence of great animals of a different species that might have chased the dinosaurs away, the inference could be drawn that they had fled from the storm. Possibly it was not so much the pelting from the suddenly darkened sky that alarmed them as the terrific reverberation of the thunder and the glare of the lightning striking through the clouds, or shattering a near-by tree.

LARGE AND SMALL PRINTS

A couple of years ago, being in the Connecticut valley, near Northampton, Professor William J. Miller took me to look at some similar tracks which had been found in recently uncovered sandstone strata. Some of these long-toed, two-legged creatures had feet more than a foot in length, and though they had doubtless been feeding, and, with short steps, slowly strolling onward, it was only by the utmost possible extension of his own, not very brief, stride, and by vigorously projecting himself from footmark to footmark, that Professor Miller was able to keep the dinosaur step.

A little searching on sandstone strata closer to the river, in a place where the last Spring floods had perhaps stripped off a thin surface layer of friable rock, brought to light more of these ancient tracks, and among them some whose small size (not larger than a hand) and generally delicate look, seemed assurance that they had been left by the feet of baby dinosaurs born in the Connecticut valley in the far off Triassic age, millions of years before, as Milton tells us, "blissful Paradise" was planted "in the east of Eden."

DISCOVERIES IN KANSAS

A few weeks ago Mr. H. T. Martin, of the paleontological museum of the University of Kansas, reported the discovery in the coal measures of Kansas, on Wakarusa Creek, some five miles southeast of Lawrence, of a series of eight footprints in a heavy sandstone formation. They were found by two young men, the sons of Dr. Coghill, who called Mr. Martin's attention to them. They are not very large—about six or seven inches by six—and spaced about thirty inches apart, but they are remarkable because of the geological age to which they belong.

The coal measures long antedated the Triassic and Jurassic rocks of the Connecticut valley. They were before the appearance on earth of the dinosaurs, and there is some doubt as to the proper classification of the creatures that left these footmarks in Kansas. But they were vertebrates, and, according to Mr. Martin, the largest representatives of the backboned animals that are so far known to have lived in the time of the coal measures. In the days of their earthly pilgrimage the amphibians, animals that live indifferently on land or in water, were at their culmination, and these Kansas creatures belonged to that type.

German Aeroplane Presented To Soviet

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, May 11.—An aeroplane from Berlin has alighted at the Moscow aerodrome. It belongs to the Russo-German aeroplane building company and is sent as a present from Germany to Soviet Russia.

The aeroplane bears an engraving of the coat of arms of the Russian Socialist Federal Soviet Republic. In a few days the German aviator will start his return fight in another machine carrying diplomatic mail.

The arrival of this purely commercial plane is said to be the mainspring of the rumors published in French newspapers that Germany was to arm the Russians and incidently supply some hundreds of battle planes.

CHICAGO LABOR WAR TERRORISES CITY, TORCH USED

Buildings Fired As Result Of Arrest Of Three Leaders

(China Press Service)

Chicago, May 17.—Chief of Police Charles C. Fitzmorris has ordered the police to stop the labor warfare which has terrorised Chicago for the past two months "at all costs."

The order followed a spectacular fire last night of a large apartment house under construction in the "Gold Coast" section, Chicago's wealthy residential quarter. The fire started simultaneously with several others all proceeded by explosions.

Warnings were received last week that buildings under construction would be burned unless three labor leaders, "Big Tim" Murphy, Fred Mader, and Con Shea, now held in jail, were released. The three labor czars were arrested following the bombing of two buildings and a fight between police and strikers in which two policemen were killed.

Workmen now employed on the buildings fired are working under the Landis award which the unions opposed.

French Approve U. S. Oil Rights Stand

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, May 16.—The French attitude with regard to international oil rights is defined in a long semi-official statement which mentions the contract between the Shell Company and the Soviets which was recently on the point of signature at Genoa.

A special French representative communicated with the Belgian, British and American Governments and the result is that Franco-Belgian interests are now grouped. The contract for the defense of such interests in the Caucasus will apply to pre-war undertakings and concessions obtained from the former proprietors after their nationalisation.

The statement proceeds to testify to British good faith in connection with the oil agreements in the Caucasus and mentions that Britain did not support the Shell claims.

The United States attitude in favor of equal treatment is endorsed. The statement declares that although endeavoring to share production whenever possible, France is particularly seeking oil supplies in Europe and has been especially active in Galicia and Rumania.

He said that the Government had decided to defer to the wish of the House and immediately appoint a select committee of not more than nine members to inquire whether, in fixing the present salaries of teachers, the Government or Parliament gave an undertaking to the teachers that their superannuation should not be altered.

Meanwhile, he said, the Government would introduce a supplementary estimate of £600,000 to cover the cost of superannuation for the first three months of the year.
